The Spirit shall look out through Matter's gaze. And Matter shall reveal the Spirit's face. Sri Aurobindo (born Aurobindo Ghose; 15 August 1872 – 5 December 1950) was an Indian philosopher, yogi, guru, poet, and nationalist. He joined the Indian movement for independence from British rule, for a while was one of its influential leaders and then became a spiritual reformer, introducing his visions on human progress and spiritual evolution. Sri Aurobindo studies takes up the review of the primary writings of Sri Aurobindo. We can see around us in our lives, in the society and the world at large, the consequences of the egoistic standpoint leading to actions that assume individual total freedom without an appreciation of the interconnected relationship of each to all, and the consequent responsibility that is the flip-side of freedom. Each asserts himself without regard for consequences and this leads to conflict, hostility, disharmony, and destruction of the balance of the eco-sphere within which we all live. [ 419 more words ]

Eluding easy classification, at different stages in his life he played the role of scholar, politician, more. Sri Aurobindo Ghose (1872-1950), the revolutionary yogi of Pondicherry, was one of India's first global gurus of the modern age. First, this comparative case study comprises an intertextual reading of Sri Aurobindo (Aravinda Ackroyd Ghose, 1872â€“1950) and the Divine Mother. Second, it examines representations of the Divine Mother through 28 semi-structured interviews (Spring 2013) conducted in the Sri Aurobindo Ashram (Pondicherry, India), Auroville (Tamil Nadu, India), and the Sri Aurobindo Center of Montreal (Montreal, Canada). Sri Aurobindo is also known as Aurobindo Ghose and also spelled as Aravinda. He propounded a philosophy of divine life on earth and founded an ashram in Puducherry. His epic poem Savitri is one of the greatest works of him. His participation in the Indian freedom struggle against the British gave him popularity and gradually evolved to become a spiritual and yogic guru. He came up with a new path of spirituality known as 'integral yoga'. The main objective of his teachings was to increase the level of consciousness of people and to aware people of their true selves. He had written se
