

The Barland's Farm Romano-Celtic Boat. 327 pages. Nigel Nayling, Sean McGrail, Martin Bell. 2004. 9781902771403. Council for British Archaeology, 2004

During 1993 the remains of a well-preserved boat, displaying many characteristics typical of Romano-Celtic boats, was excavated at Barland's Farm in the Gwent Levels on the northern shore of the Severn Estuary. This volume reports on the results of the excavation and survey which also revealed a stone and timber structure associated with the boat and a palaeochannel. Specialist sections examine the environmental data gathered from the site and boat and report on the finds which included Roman pottery, footwear and animal bone. Each section of the boat itself is described and discussed in Romano-Celtic boats and ships: characteristic features. International Journal of Nautical Archaeology, Vol. 24, Issue. 2, p. 139. Arnold, Beat 1999. Some remarks on Romano-Celtic boat construction and MR Bronze Age wood technology. International Journal of Nautical Archaeology, Vol. 28, Issue. 1, p. 34. The Barland's Farm Romano-Celtic Boat by N. Nayling, S. McGrail (pp. 513-514). Review by: A. J. Parker. <https://www.jstor.org/stable/30030550>. Unfollow romano celtic to stop getting updates on your eBay feed. You'll receive email and Feed alerts when new items arrive. Turn off email alerts. Save this search. Postage to Russian Federation. CBA research report: The Barland's Farm Romano-Celtic boat by Nigel Nayling. Great Prices & Quality from musicMagpie. 7m+ Feedbacks. EUR 23.52. Postage not specified. From United Kingdom. The Excavation of a Romano-Celtic Temple and a Later Cemetery on Lamyatt. 320263.