

Reclaiming the Connections: A Contemporary Spirituality #Kathleen Fischer

#9781556122712 #1990 #Rowman & Littlefield, 1990 #104 pages

The End of Absence book. Read 283 reviews from the world's largest community for readers. Soon enough, nobody will remember life before the Internet. What... But those of us who have lived both with and without the crowded connectivity of online life have a rare opportunity. We can still recognize the difference between Before and After. But those of us who have lived both with and without the crowded connectivity of online life have a rare opportunity. We can still recognize the difference between Before and After. We catch ourselves idly reaching Download Citation | Aging and Spirituality: Reclaiming Connection Through Storytelling | In this article, the author suggests it is possible for older persons to renew community connections with storytelling and, through this means, to | Find, read and cite all the research you need on ResearchGate. Their spirituality imbues their hardship with meaning, engenders self-esteem, keeps despair at bay, and grants hope for rewards both in this life and the next. View. Show abstract. This book is a continuation of my Motivation and Personality, published in 1954. It was constructed in about the same way, that is, by doing one piece at a time of the larger theoretical structure. Cohen's work links nature and spirituality, a connection that resonates with many. Seven of scholars with a research interest in ecology and spirituality present essays in this volume, reflecting on eco-spirituality from theological, spiritual, and historical perspectives. Save to Library. Download. This is an article that comprises a sequence of three class plan on Ecology and Spirituality written for the small magazine called The Religious Education Initiative at the Marino Institute of Education, Marino, Dublin, Ireland. It was more. This is an article that comprises a sequence of three class plan on Ecology and Spirituality written for the small magazine called The Religious Education Initiative at the Marino Institute of Education, Marino, Dublin, Ireland. Arguing that contemporary education is responsible for having abandoned spirituality and the cultivation of goodness in people, Hanan A. Alexander advances a definition of spirituality which acknowledges an integral connection to education. Reclaiming Goodness charts a way to reintegrate ethical and spiritual values with the values of critical thought and reason. The story is told of a pious old man who would go to a special place in the forest at a designated time each year to light a fire and to pray for forgiveness from God for himself, his family, and his people. It was to this same place that his father would go each year. The words that the old man recited and the rituals that he performed were the very same words and rituals that his father had recited and performed.