I read the book and was amazed at the strong evidence that the ancient structures might have been built largely to avoid famine by enhancing growth in seeds deposited at the sites. As it turned out, I was also reading Dr. Gerald Pollack's books "The Fourth Phase of Water: Beyond Solid, Liquid, and Vapor" (see my separate review) and "Cells, Gels, and the Engines of Life" at the time, partly in a effort to better understand the basis of the concept of "Earthing" in the important book of the same name.
However, it seems clear that the artificial approach (described in Chapter 2) to which the approach of the megalith builders was compared involved some kind of electron shower. texts. The megalith builders. by. MacKie, Euan Wallace.
